Homemakers Items

Your teenage son or daughter may think drinking milk is strictly "kid stuff."

Not so, say nutritionists, dairymen and other interested folk. But this erroneous attitude contributed to the fact that teenagers drink less milk than pre-teenagers.

At VPI, A. J. Ortego, milk marketing specialist, cites a Pennsylvania study which showed that use of milk declines as children go through their teens. The teenagers quirled gave several reasons for not drinking milk. Many consider milk for babies, and at the early high school age they try to steer clear of what they think is childlike behavior. Some think that milk adds weight. Others feel it is not an appropriate drink to have with friends, on a date, at social events. They have not found milk as stimulating as other drinks.

Teenagers who do drink milk have good reasons. They believe it contributes to health, energy, and looks. They are in the habit. And they like the taste.

Ortego says the dairy industry must overcome the bars to greater use of milk. He suggests educational programs which will stress the contribution of milk to vigor and vitality, overcome the feeling that milk is only for babies and children, and stress that milk is no more fattening than other high calorie foods, stress the importance of milk for good health throughout life, and show the desirability of milk as a drink on dates, for bedtime snacks, for group activities, etc.

READY FOR ANNUAL CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE MAILINGS

The annual Christmas Seal Sale campaign of the Southside Tuberculosis Association, serving Amelia, Appomattox, Buckingham, Charlotte, Cumberland, Lunenburg, Nottoway, Powhatan and Prince Edward Counties, will get underwai Friday, Nov. 13, with the mailing of approximately 20,000 letters to residents of the nine county area, although the actual opening date of the campaign is not until the following Monday, Nov. 16.

Of every dollar raised in the seal campaign, 82.5 per cent is spent on TB prevention and control in the area. The remainder comes back to the counties in services from the state and national associations.

The local TB association is entirely dependent upon the sale of the Christmas Seals to support its program in the counties.

In the past year, free chest x-rays were given 6,700 persons through the mobile units, detecting not only suspected cases of TB, but other chest disorders such as heart abnormalities, and early lung cancer.

The organization is especially proud of its health education program. Six nursing scholarships were awarded by the association to high school graduates and one teacher's scholarship for a summer workshop. 23,000 childrens Health Bulletins were distributed throughout all second grades in the area. In addition the organization has provided yearround health education literature, exhibits, films, and talks in county schools and for the general public.

It is also sponsor of a patient service program to aid indigent patients in sanatoria.

A recent study of the tuberculosis problem in the nine county area reveals a total case load of 1,318 persons, 149 under 45 years of age, and 217 cases were advanced when found.

Corn Research

In the late '40's, there occurred a boom in population commonly referred to as war-time babies. In a few years, they will be marrying and a new population boom will come about. Some experts are predicting a population of 210 million by 1976, or a 30% increase in the next fifteen years.

This Snack Has "Child Appeal"

Lunch boxes are back on their five-a-week schedule and closer is the mother who has "child appeal" food ready. (Which means she can combine variety and taste appeal with good nutrition.) Remember, it takes a lot of fuel to run active young bodies.

West Coast Fruit Nuggets will not only satisfy the sweet tooth, they will meet mom's requirements for a healthy snack, too. Made with whole oranges, dates, figs, nuts and graham cracker crumbs, this tangy morsel provides vitamin C, iron and energy calories in a sweet setting.

Be sure to include fresh Sunkist oranges several times during the week . . . they're easy for eating out of hand and go so well with sandwiches.

West Coast Fruit Nuggets

2 fresh California oranges, ground
1 pound dried figs
1 pound dates, pitted
½ cup chopped walnuts
½ cup powdered sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups graham cracker crumbs

Wash oranges and cut in quarters, put through food chopper and drain juice from pulp. Put figs and dates through food chopper. Combine oranges, figs, dates, chopped walnuts, powdered sugar and salt, mixing well. Mold into balls the size of a walnut. Roll in graham cracker crumbs. Lay on waxed paper. Allow to set for several hours or overnight. Makes 5 to 6 dozen nuggets.

Appomattox Grid Team Ends Season With 6 Wins, 3 Losses

COACH BRAGG THANKS FOR JOB WELL-DONE

The Appomattox football players, the coaching staff, and the school want to thank the Lions Club, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Transco and the fine group of men who spent endless hours on this project: Mr. Leffers, Mr. Jim Boamer, Mr. Buddy Beamer, Mr. Scott Porter and all their men under them for the beautiful football field they are building for the school. This field will be enjoyed for many years and with the stands being higher off the ground and permanent bleachers to seat around 300 more people this year we will have the best setup of any school in this area. A new fence will be put all the way around the athletic field and it is hoped we will have much better parking next fall. So with the new field and the prospects of a good football team everything should be very nice. All the people who donated money toward this project deserve a big vote of thanks from all of us.

Duke Coach Will Speak at Team Banquet

Bill Murray, Head Coach of football at Duke University, will be the guest speaker at the annual banquet honoring the A. H. S. football team, which will be held Thursday evening, Dec. 17, at 6:45 at the Appomattox Elementary School Cafeteria. For many years the Lions Club has entertained the local high school football team and coach at a dinner meeting following the end of the playing season. In past years trophies have been presented to outstanding players.

Lions Club President, Murrel Ferguson, has expressed his pleasure that Appomattox has been able to secure such an outstanding figure in the sports world, to be the speaker for this occasion and is confident it will prove to be a very outstanding occasion.

The Appomattox High School Rebels finished their 1959 football season by downing Gretna High School last Wednesday night by a 13 to 0 score. Johnny Canada scored both touchdowns. James Whitehead scored the extra point. Then on Saturday night Appomattox downed Madison County High School by a 19 to 13 score. Brod Peck scored one touchdown on a pass from Dickie Guill; L. N. Garrette scored the extra point. Johnny Canada scored the second touchdown and Robert Garrette scored the third touchdown.

This gave the Appomattox High School team a record of 6 wins, 3 losses and one tie. This year's team was the lightest Coach Bragg has had in his 12 years of coaching here but they showed a lot of desire and hustle and in most games were outweighed as high as 30 pounds to a man. The only letdown the team had was with Buckingham and Brookville and they could have been classed with the other teams we have had in the past.

Next year's prospects are very good. We will have at least 17 seniors on next year's team with a lot of experience with some of them playing ever since the 8th grade. They will have an excellent backfield and a very good line.

The 12 year record of Mr. Bragg's teams to date in football is 91 wins, 23 losses and 6 ties.

BLOODMOBILE VISITS HERE TOMORROW

The people of Appomattox County will have a chance to show if they wish to continue in the Red Cross Blood Program by their blood donations on Friday, Nov. 20. This supplementary bloodmobile visit is coming to Appomattox to give us a chance to make up the deficit in our yearly quota and thereby be allowed to continue in this important program. Normally the County has two visits a year with a quota of 120 pints per visit. Since the two earlier visits produced only about 50 per cent of our quota, we urge all who are able, to respond to this important service so that citizens of our county may receive this blood when needed and without cost except for the administration fee. Please keep the date and this important service in mind and help keep it available to our citizens by donating a pint of blood on Nov. 30.

New Dentist Opens Office

It has been announced that Dr. C. R. Jones, D. D. S., has established his office here for the practice of Dentistry. His office are located on the second floor of the Lee Theatre Building. Dr. Jones is a native of Buckingham County, a graduate of V. P. I. and of the Medical College of Virginia. He served as a Captain in the Army and was stationed in Germany. His office is now open.

Downtown business in Appomattox received a boost this week, when the Town Council voted to extend the "holiday" on parking meters through the Christmas shopping season.

The action of the Council means that parking meters will not be in use through the rest of this year, and that the only restriction on parking to do business in downtown Appomattox will be to observe a one-hour parking limit.

The Council had previously set up a two-month "holiday" on use of the meters. This action was so successful that it was unanimously agreed to extend the "holiday" through the rest of the year. Final disposition of the "parking meter problem" will doubtless await a decision around the first of the year. This may involve an arrangement with the suppliers of the meters, and there is still the possibility that the town may have to resort to re-use of the meters early in 1960. But for the present, the status is: "come to Appomattox . . . you are welcome. Observe parking signs and don't park downtown over one hour."

For shoppers who wish to park more than one hour, it is pointed out that the limit applies only to the places formerly using parking meters. Free off-street parking is also available.

Santa to Visit Here Dec. 19

The last Saturday before Christmas has always been observed by the Appomattox Lions Club as a special occasion, with a visit by "Santa" and gifts for all children in the area. This year, the Lions Club has made arrangements for Santa to come to Appomattox with his gifts on Saturday, Dec. 19. Details of the traditional event will be released, but word is out: Come to Appomattox to see Santa Claus!

It's easy to find an excuse for delaying hard work.

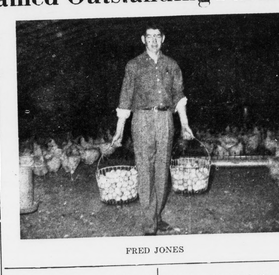
Statisticians report another rise in the cost of living.

Fred Jones Named Outstanding Farmer

The Appomattox Young Farmers Association has voted Fred Jones, of Appomattox, as its outstanding young farmer of the year. His application will be entered in the Southside Virginia Young Farmers Association and winners in that division will be announced in December. Fred is a charter member of the local young farmer association and has served it in many ways. He is a past secretary of the association, and has served on the program of work committee for several years. He has been elected president of the association for the year 1960.

Fred has been elected outstanding farmer primarily because of his accomplishments in farming. He has farmed all his life. One year out of high school he borrowed money and purchased a farm of his own. There were no buildings on this farm, no machinery, and no improvements. Starting from scratch, using his abilities and a lot of hard work Fred has built up an outstanding farming program. In the third year of farming Mr. Jones suffered the loss of over 1000 chickens which nearly put him out of business. He stuck with it though and pulled through to better days.

Since his dark year he has built a seven room dwelling with a bath and a basement; built a combined garage and shop; built chicken houses with 12,000 square feet of floor space built a tobacco barn with sheds on each side; and built several small grain storage buildings. Mrs. Jones helps her husband candle and grade eggs in the basement of their home. They recently purchased an electric egg washer.



FRED JONES

Fred has a regular route on which he delivers his eggs. He sells eggs by his own label, in one-dozen cartons. Fred buys, shells, and sells corn. He also custom hauls wheat and corn. He works out his own chicken and hog feed formulas, then has them mixed at a local feed concern.

Fred is one of the two farmers to raise aromatic tobacco in the county in 1959. His current farming program includes 4000 laying hens, 132 hogs, 17 acres of corn, 9 acres of wheat, 7 acres of barley, 6 acres of oats, 5 acres of milo, 4 acres of dark tobacco and .8 acres of aromatic tobacco. Fred has developed a soil conservation plan on a 153 acre farm which he owns in partnership with his brother. Together they have set out 65,000 loblolly pine seedlings, and 1000 white pine seedlings.

Fred has served on the County Poultry Committee, on the Southern States Board of Directors, has been a member of the Farmers Union, has represented the Brookneal Southern States Cooperative in Richmond, and has served on the County ACP Election Committee. He is a member of the Central Church. Last year he was the Jaycees choice for the outstanding young farmer in this area.

The Civil War Story . . .

A very rare and precious document . . . which should be displayed in the Appomattox County Historical Museum . . . if we had one . . . was brought to the writer a few days ago.

It concerns the fact that in the last days of the Civil War, many soldiers from Appomattox County were held as prisoners of war in Yankee prison camps.

Loved ones here assembled gifts and necessities to be sent to the Confederate prisioners. The document which has come to our desk is the original list of items sent, to whom sent, by whom sent, with complete detail.

Box No. 1 weighed 41b pounds; Box No. 2, 332 pounds; Box No. 3, 497 pounds; Box No. 4, 317 pounds; and Box No. 5, 138 pounds. That adds up to 1,694 pounds of love gifts from loved ones.

John Taylor, Jr., brought this document to us, because of his great grandfather, Edward M. Taylor was one of the recipents, and the document is an heirloom in his family. The document is on two large pages, with beautifully penmanship, and an historical treasure.

As an example of the gifts, to Edward M. Taylor were sent: one pair pants and coat, two pair drawers, one blanket, one vest, one flannel shirt, one neck comforter, one pair gloves, two pair socks, one pair suspenders, one hat, one pair boots, one package of paper and envelopes.
